MARKETING CANADIAN WHEAT

The following excellent article from the monthly bulletin of the Royal Bank of Canada on the question of "Marketing Canadian Wheat" will be read with interest by those who desire to know something of the system in vogue at the present time.

One of the effects of declining grain prices in this and in other countries has been opposition to the system of marketing the crop, and criticism of the speculative element said to be inherent in it. The criticism, however, has never been constructive in nature, and no proposal has yet been made which would provide for a practical system more economical than the one now in force for collecting the surplus wheat of our annual crop, and selling them to the grain-importing countries of the world. What is, of course, the most important grain, wheat, and the method of bringing it to a point where it is readily available for sale to Eastern millers and European importers can be briefly described. A small proportion—probably thirty per cent—of the farmers' wheat is loaded direct into railroad cars for the loading platform. But the great bulk of the crop goes into the country elevators, of which there are some 3,600 scattered through the wheat-raising districts of the West. Each elevator is supplied with scales for weighing the grain, and with machinery by which it is elevated to the country building and permitted to flow into bins or cars as required. This bulk handling, by which are utilized the flowing properties of grain under the influence of gravity, is an important feature of the marketing organization, and contributes greatly to the speedy and economical handling of the crop.

Apart from a small amount of wheat which goes to local mills, or west to the Pacific coast, and a larger amount which goes south into the United States, practically all the grain loaded into railroad cars is bound for the terminal elevators at Port Arthur or Port William. It is covered originally by rail bills of lading, is graded en route—probably at Winnipeg—by Dominion Government inspectors who issue a certificate of grade and finally, on entering a terminal elevator at the head of the Lakes, is further covered by a certificate of weight. The certificate of weight, the railroad bill of lading, and the certificate of grade issued in Winnipeg, are eventually exchanged for a terminal elevator receipt, which is the document which passes from seller to buyer when cash trade takes place on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange.

Of equal importance with the facilities for the physical handling and transportation of the crop is the machinery by which the wheat is marketed and exchanged for money or its equivalent. The organization through which this is accomplished, almost exclusively, is the Winnipeg Grain Exchange. The Exchange does not buy or sell grain, and is merely an organization of dealers formed with the object of providing a suitable meeting place, and of establishing and maintaining proper regulations for the making and performance of contracts. It is on the Exchange that the various elements interested in the buying and selling of the crop assemble. There, the representatives of the Elevator Companies, track buyers and commission houses, acting for themselves or as agents for the producers, offer for sale what other grain to the agents of the millers, exporters and other interests who buy for ultimate disposal to consumers.

The actual buying and selling of wheat would be comparatively simple if all trades were for spot cash or immediate delivery, when the exchange Terminal Warehouse Receipts for payment would complete the transaction. The introduction of "futures" makes the business more intricate, and necessitates more elaborate machinery. A future sale consists in entering into a contract to deliver, in some future month, a specified quantity of grain at a specified price. The day of the month on which the grain shall be delivered is decided upon by the seller; the buyer must be prepared to take delivery at any time during the month in question. In dealing in wheat futures in Canada, only contract grades, Nos. 1, 2 and 3 Northern are recognized. The system of trading in grain for future delivery arises from simple commercial necessities. At a certain time of each year, the volume of grain offered for sale is greatly in excess of immediate requirements. If the producer is to have freedom to market the bulk of his crop soon after harvest, interests possessing extensive purchasing power must be found that are prepared to carry the grain during the period when supply is out of balance with demand. The price of grain being subject to rapid fluctuations, this purchasing power will not be available unless there is reasonable security against the risk of loss. The necessary protection is supplied by future trading, which enables purchasers for immediate delivery to be offset by sales for future delivery. Apart from the period of seasonal surplus, some time must elapse between the purchase of grain in the country and its arrival at a point where it can be sold on the Exchange.

The elevator company or track buyer trading on a narrow margin cannot afford, with safety, to take the risk of carrying the grain during this period, as a small decline in price in the interval would involve the elimination of profit and probably a substantial loss. It is, therefore, customary to report purchases from day to day to the home office in Winnipeg, which at once sells an equal amount on the future market for different deliveries, to coincide with the probable date of arrival at the terminal elevators of the wheat purchased in the country. This procedure is termed "hedging," and it makes fluctuations in price of no concern to the elevator company or track buyer in question. If cash prices have declined in the interval between purchase at country point and sale of the same quantity of cash wheat in Winnipeg, that half of the transactions represents a loss. But the loss is offset by an equal profit, because the company or buyer, having sold futures at a certain fixed price, can make the purchases necessary to cover these futures at a lower price; for if cash grain prices have declined, the price of futures will have gone down also. Elevator companies and other buyers of wheat are not the only ones who make use of these future trading facilities. The milling companies find it necessary to make contracts with their customers in advance for the delivery of flour at future dates, and they are only able to protect themselves against price fluctuations, and at the same time conserve capital and storage space, by buying the grain to fill those sales on terms of future delivery and payment. The relation to the future market is complementary to that of the country elevator companies, and the underlying principle is the same.

Hedging is, therefore, not speculation; it is the avoidance of speculation. It is form of insurance, and is the foundation on which rests the extreme liquidity of grain as a commodity. The lessening of risks which it results in is reflected in lower trade tolls, benefitting alike producers and consumers, yet hedging is the feature which comes in for criticism. True, hedging facilities can be made use of by speculators who may buy or sell grain which they do not, and never expect to, actually possess; such operations are hard to defend, but it should be remembered that speculations cannot cause great savings of prices. The dealer who depresses prices by selling short, or who makes a potential buyer, whose influence, when he finally comes into the market, will be towards raising prices. Unless his judgment of the situation has been correct, and world prices of wheat are tending downwards when he sold, he can make no profit. Wheat is a standard commodity of universal use, the price of which is fixed by the demand and supply of the world; and in this price the speculators of any market cannot make a permanent change. The drastic amendments to the present system of trading in grain which have been recently proposed have not been considerably modified. There is probably a more general recognition of the fact that any legislative interference with a delicately organized market is dangerous, and that even measures designed to do away with the possibilities for speculation pure and simple, might not bring only the beneficial results desired.

VALLEY CENTRE

A government engineer recently visited this locality, and after taking the necessary steps, drew a plan of the bridge that is to span the Red Deer river in this district. The contractors are expected to begin operations at no distant date, but the bridge may not be completed until the summer of 1922.

We regret to report that Mr. C. Ryan's health has been slightly improved of late.

Our roads are being repaired and will soon be in excellent condition. A private fire engine was recently started threatened to do some damage but was controlled in good time. A prairie fire which is as honest as any in Alberta, but there appears to be one expert sinner in this locality. Doubtless this district is the Presbyterian church were removed some time ago. The person taking them has not reported, for he never made restitution, and however good he may otherwise be he is excluded from the celestial city till he returns these hymn books.

A special U.F.A. service will be conducted in the Presbyterian church next Sunday by the Rev. Chas. McKay, at eleven o'clock in the forenoon. The subject is "Sowing and Reaping in the Natural and Spiritual World." It is reported that our teacher Miss McDonald is leaving at the end of this term.

FELT LIKE AN IRON BAND AROUND HEAD

Mrs. Osborne Says She Shudders
When She Thinks How She Suffered

"For years," said Mrs. V. B. Osborne, of 718, Lancaster Ave., Lexington, Ky., "I have been in a run-down condition: nervous, weak and dizzy. I was actually so nervous that any sudden noise or excitement would produce a palpitation of my heart that frightened me. I absolutely could not climb stairs, for to attempt such would thoroughly exhaust me."

"I had nervous headaches, and when they came on it seemed that an iron band was drawn tight around my head. I now shudder when I think of those headaches. My stomach was weak and I could not digest the lightest liquid food. Any food of a solid nature caused nausea, and the slightest sensation remained for hours."

"My misery was most unbearable. My sleep was never sound and I was worn out all the time. My condition was indeed a very deplorable one. I finally sought treatment in Cincinnati, but nothing helped me one particle. I was on the verge of giving up in despair when a neighbor pleaded with me to try Tanlac. I obtained a bottle of the medicine and began its use."

"I began improving at once and soon felt my nervousness and dizziness disappearing. Then my headaches left me and I realized my strength had returned. My appetite and digestion improved and I am now so much better in every way. This Tanlac is a wonderful medicine and the only one that ever really helped me. I hope every poor creature who is suffering as I did will try it."

THE COUNTRY EDITOR
Most any man can be an editor. All the editor has to do is to sit at a desk six days a week, four weeks in a month, and 12 months in a year, and edit such stuff as:
"Mrs. Jones, of Cactus Creek, let a can-opener slip last week and cut herself in the pantry." John Doe climbed on to the roof of his house last week looking for a leak and fell, landing on his back porch. While Harold Green was securing Miss Violet Wise from the church social last Saturday night, a savage dog attacked them and bit Mr. Greene on the public square. Mr. Fang, while harnessing a broncho last week, was kicked just north of his corn crib."—Yermouth Light.

"Women always have and always will keep men guessing," declares The Watchman (Kan.) Times. "A Watnash merchant employed a homely girl because he thought he could keep her. Within a few months a young man married her for the same reason."

He was home from College and telling his father of some of the things he had learned, and finished up with, "Say, Dad, do you know the egg is the biggest single cell?"

"Yes," drawled the old man, "when it is rotten."

An Irishman visiting a friend in hospital began to take an interest in the other patients. "What are you in here for?" he asked one. "I've got tonsillitis and I've got to have my tonsils cut out," was the answer. "And you?" he asked another. "I've got blood-poisoning in the arm, and they're going to cut it off," was the reply. "Howdy Moses," said Pat in horror. "This ain't no place for me. I've got a cold in me head."

Div. 1, M.D. 343, Will Have a Third Election This Year

An outcome of neighborhood differences at Rincinus, Div. No. 1, M.D. of Prairie Creek, No. 343, came for judgment before Judge Mahaffy at Red Deer on Monday, when Len D. Bower sought the ousting of John Barter from the Council on the ground that he had been improperly elected. The Judge gave effect to Mr. Bower's plea, and ousted Mr. Barter from his seat, but ruled that each party should pay his own costs. A new election will consequently be held, the third year. Mr. Payne appeared for Mr. Bower, and Mr. McDonald, Innisfail, for Mr. Barter.

At the regular election in February, Mr. Allen Froy was elected over Mr. Barter by 15 to 12, but subsequently resigned. Mr. Bower and Mr. Barter were nominated for the bye-election of May 15, and the fight was very close, the voters dividing pretty well on the same old lines. The result was a tie—12 to 12—but Bower, Ham and W. H. Burns were refused a vote, they testified, by the deputy returning officer, Mr. Vernon, the treasurer, the group that they were disqualified owing to giving or accepting money in the way of votes. Mr. Bower, Mr. Clearwater, Mr. E. A. Godley, the M.D. secretary-treasurer, who was acting as Barter's agent at the poll, and Barter himself swore that these voters were challenged, and that these men would not take the oath. They had not, but subsequently money for votes. Six other voters were challenged on similar grounds of money for votes. The voters were sworn to employment, but they took the oath and voted. The deputy returning officer, Mr. Vernon, then declared the result a tie. The next day both parties gathered at the residence of Mr. Clearwater, where the election was held. Mr. Bower, on representations of Mr. Clearwater, refused to take the oath, and a not a qualified candidate. Mr. Burns filled out a certificate of election, but Mr. Bower, who refused to recognize the votes cast for Mr. Bower, he stated. Had he cast a deciding vote, it would have been for Mr. Bower, he stated. Mr. Barter, on the returning officer's certificate, took the oath of office, and took his seat on the Council.

Before Judge Mahaffy, Mr. Bower testified that he had supplied the necessary taxes for Mr. Fred Hart, a neighboring farmer with whom he had more or less business transactions, and that his friends. He did not think that paying the supplementary taxes had the same effect as paying the taxes. He wanted to put Hart in a position to vote; he expected Hart would vote for him, but he had not asked Hart. He had paid Hart $15, which Hart had applied on taxes, but the $15 was not Bower's; it was lent to Hart by Bower's friends, and was lent to Hart by Bower's friends. Mr. Bowers, Mr. Isbell, Mr. Ditch, Mr. W. H. Burns, swore to occur to him that the taxes were paid by the schoolhouse, when the parties suspected by Bower of receiving consideration on Bower's behalf came to vote. The deputy, Mr. Clearwater, swore that Mr. Barter and Mr. Godley, his agent, objected to them being sworn without taking the oath; Mr. Godley, as M.D. secretary-treasurer, had the information as to taxes being paid by Bower for others. The deputy, consequently, was bound to swear all voters, when they were objected to. He did not read the oath to Bower and Burns and Ham because they did not take the oath. He was not allowed away from the table, and the others refused to take the oath. The evidence was that Mr. Bower had paid the taxes on account of being refused the ballot was that it was Mr. Clearwater who refused to take the oath and gave as his reason that they had paid or accepted money on taxes. Mr. Clearwater testified to the statement that he could not allow them to vote because they would not take the oath; he did not read the oath to them. Mr. Bower said he would not let get elected as a measly municipal being. Mr. Clearwater and the other two defence witnesses declared that there was not much loss between Mr. Bower and Mr. Godley according to the latter's evidence for defence; Mr. Bower had sought to discredit him, he testified.

There was not so much conflict of evidence as to the proceedings at Mr. Bower's residence, and Mr. Barter accepted the statement of poll of Deputy Clearwater, and said that he would give his casting vote for Mr. Bower. Mr. Godley enquired as to how he could do that, and Mr. Clearwater testified that Mr. Bower had been dealing with qualification of elector, but which section the Judge could not see had any bearing on action of the returning officer. There was considerable argument pro and con, Mr. Bower finally gave the certificate that Mr. Bower was elected, ignoring the votes cast for Mr. Bower and giving effect to Mr. Clearwater's and Mr. Godley's claim that an elector who would not take the oath when challenged was thereby disqualified from being an elector or a candidate. The Judge said that he was glad his decision would turn out on a point on which both parties agreed, viz., that there had never been a legal casting vote by the returning officer, and consequently Mr. Barter was never legally elected. He regretted that there had been a great deal of confusion and that he did not know that he would name the parties, but they must not interfere. He said that they had got away with it, so far as he was concerned; these men would know in their own hearts that they had not been telling the truth. It was a disgraceful condition of affairs. He declared Barter elected illegally, and would give an order for ouster. As to costs, he had decided not to allow costs. While he believed Mr. Barter had acted in good faith in procuring the payment of these outstanding taxes for Hart and Ham, yet there was sufficient in this act to bar him from being allowed his costs.

HOLD ON TO YOUR JOB

If the seamen, the printers, the miners, the plumbers—the whole bunch of good workmen—will take our advice, they will arbitrate, negotiate, conciliate, mediate, mediate, cogitate, argue and expostulate in settling forth their desires, but they will be careful not to waste their jobs. It is a mistake to assume that they are infallible, or that their demands are necessarily just, and it is the last word in folly to invoke the loss and waste of idleness by striking.

DISTRICT COURT

(Before His Honor Judge Mahaffy)
Packer v. Dyer, action by Alfred Eger, Hill End, against Thos. J. Day, Edwell, for $94.16, balance claimed on the contract of February, 1920. Defendant had paid $22.02 into court claiming that was all which was due. The evidence was that the plaintiff and defendant's witnesses were in conflict at almost every point, viz., as to the evidence of the plaintiff, the defendant, 1919, and on what understanding, what rates for threshing were fair, how much grain was threshed, how it was threshed, whether the engine worked right, whether pitchers should be allowed for, whether all the grain was measured, etc. The Judge finally centred the case on two points, viz., how much grain was threshed and what rate per bushel should be charged. He found for the plaintiff on the first point, and for the defendant on the second. He found for the plaintiff on the amount of the rate per bushel. This gave a verdict for plaintiff of $75.65, but the Judge directed that in view of the plaintiff's failure to prove the amount of grain threshed, and the loss of methods of measuring grain, and immediately after threshing on the defendant's truck should pay to the plaintiff the cost of the grain, and the expense the country had been put to in this trial for want of proper business methods. Mr. Payne for plaintiff; Mr. Scott for defendant.

EXAMINER'S REVIEW OF PROVINCIAL MARKETS

Calgary, June 17th.

Cattle—Superior finish was shown on some of the steers this week and tops advanced, with medium steers steady and common ones lower; cows a little easier. Choice steers, $5.50 to $7.00; good, $5.50 to $6.25; medium, $4.50 to $5.25; common, $3.00 to $4.50. Cows, $5.00 to $5.50; $3.50; good, $4.00 to $5.00; medium, $4.00 to $4.50; common, $3.00 to $4.00; canners, $1.50 to $3.00. Bulls advanced 50c on the good ones, $3.25 to $4.00, medium, $2.00 to $3.00. Calves up to $2.00. Best $7.00 to $10.00; common, $5.00 to $6.00. Stocker and feeder market dull and lower; feeders, $4.25 to $5.00; stockers, $3.00 to $4.25; stocker halfers low; milk cows in good demand, dairy type cows up to $130.

There were some exceptionally good steers in Edmonton this week, and there was a top of $7.50, but they were exceptional, and ordinary choice steers are $6.00 to $7.00; good, $5.50 to $6.00; medium, $4.25 to $5.25; common, $4.00 to $4.50. Choice cows, $5.00 to $5.50; good, $4.50 to $5.00; medium, $3.50 to $5.00; common and canners, $1.50 to $3.00. Bulls advanced at $6.00 to $8.00, and common, $4.00 to $5.00. Stocker and feeder movement is light, though a few loads of good feeders have been shipped to Ontario for finishing. Export buying is stimulating the Edmonton market on choice steers.

Strengthening markets culminated in a quotation of $10.25 on the Thursday days at Calgary. Today's sales were at $10.50 and $10.75.

Packers at Edmonton towards the weekend could not take kindly to the advance, but commission men held out for $9.50.

Sheep—More butcher sheep at Calgary this week, with some spring lambs at $11.00, and others down to $7.25. Others, $7.25 to $8.25; ewes, $5.50 to $7.00. Movement of sheep to Edmonton yards is light, and quotations are nominal, there having been no sales; hams, $9.00 to $10.00; weathers, $7.00 to $8.00; ewes, $5.50 to $7.00. Several tons of good heavy horses were sold at the Calgary stockyard on Thursday by J. W. Durno to the Bank parks superintendent at prices ranging from $100 to $675. They were all outstanding horses.

Prices continue to show fluctuations, largely due to crop conditions reported from day to day. Canadian reports are generally satisfactory. Moisture conditions in Alberta are somewhat irregular, but on the whole there is no complaint. Good week-end rains in south, though some sections are getting dry.

Wool—Market very slow, and though not much on the market, demand is practically nil. Country wool prices, $15.00 to $17.00 on upland; timothy, $22.00 to $24.00. Hides—Market very slow again; no offers for country hides from tanners. Wool—American market slow, and Chicago reports difficulty in getting any business. Buyers are not doing what to ship on consignment.

MURDER CHARGE IS LAID AGAINST J. RUTLEDGE

Confesses to Suicide Pact Ending in Death of Wife with Four of the Children

Innisfail, Alta., June 17.—Joseph Rutledge, whose wife and four of his children perished in the fire which destroyed their farm home east of town, Wednesday morning, will face a charge of murder when he is released from the hospital on recovery from burns he suffered during the fire. The charge has been laid by the Alberta provincial police as a result of the coroner's inquest into the tragedy, and a confession made by Rutledge of the existence of a suicide pact between himself and his wife, and of the children and go away with themselves, but which proved too much for Rutledge's nerve.

Responsibility for the fire which brought a tragic end to the lives of the woman and four children was laid on Rutledge by the jury yesterday afternoon when they returned a verdict of death by fire. Rutledge was kept going by him. Conditions in the Rutledge home, many making, have been very bad lately, according to the confession of Rutledge, and it was because of this and because of threatened action by the provincial neglected children's department, that Rutledge and his wife decided to wipe out the entire family. Mrs. Rutledge's sister, Miss Shaw, has been residing with the family. She is 16 years of age and gave birth to a child a month ago, whose father is stated to be Rutledge. It was because of conditions in this relationship, according to Rutledge's confession, that led him and his wife to their gruesome deed. On the evening of the fire (Tuesday evening last) Rutledge says he helped his wife saturate the beds with oil. After the family was in bed, the fire was lighted and a considerable headway, enveloping the beds in which his wife and children slept, before he lost his nerve, and seizing one of the children, made his escape. Miss Shaw also escaped, because, it is stated, she had been asleep before. The bodies of only three children and the mother were found. Rutledge was released from the hospital on recovery from burns he suffered before he lost his nerve, and escaping from the house, and it will be a considerable time before he will be able to stand trial. The coroner's jury took his evidence at the hospital yesterday.

PUREBRED BULLS IN WEST MOST POPULAR

Livestock Branch Getting Good Support Here in Eliminating the Undesirable Scrub.

That invariably defective animal, the scrub bull, is being gradually eliminated from the livestock branch of Ottawa, by its policy of loaning purebred bulls to specially organized associations in newly settled districts and in backward sections of the older provinces, is doing much towards achieving the desired result.

In the seven years following the inauguration of this policy in 1913, 2,531 purebred bulls have been loaned at an average of $144.55 per head, had been loaned. Of these, British Columbia had 119, Alberta 497, Saskatchewan 429, Manitoba 220, Ontario 216, Quebec 75, New Brunswick 64, Nova Scotia 19, and Prince Edward Island 38. Returns substantiate the statement that where these bulls have been used there has been a considerable improvement in the stock market, and that in many districts to which bulls were loaned five or six years ago, farmers have felt it necessary to buy purebred animals of their own. As a result, department-loaned sires are becoming more numerous in the provinces. This is particularly noticeable in Quebec, where the number loaned decreased from 1913 to 1919, while in 1919, while in Alberta and Saskatchewan the loanings had increased. It is interesting to note as evidence of the economy practised in carrying out the policy that in one year 428 bulls whose usefulness had become impaired were sold at an average of 87 per cent. of their original cost.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 22nd, 1921.

AN ELECTION PROBABLE

Before another issue of The News appears, it is altogether probable that the Alberta Provincial parliament will be dissolved, and an appeal to the electors of the province be made, the date of the election to be not later than the first of August. Owing to internal dissensions in the Conservative party, the Liberals expect to secure a snap verdict from the people.

There is the Farmers' party, however, to reckon with, and as the taxes have been mounting up by leaps and bounds, the farmers are very restive under the load they have to bear, and they may be a strong factor against the government.

In the Red Deer constituency, J. J. Geetz, the sitting member, will without doubt be the standard bearer of the Liberal party again, and we understand he is fully confident he can hold the seat against all comers.

On the other hand, we are informed the United Farmers are fully organized, and everything is in readiness for a fight. All they are waiting for is for the announcement of an election, when their beacon fires will be lit on a hundred hills. No one knows for sure who the farmer candidate will be, but the name of D. W. McKinnon has been freely mentioned, as well as that of Geo. W. Smith.

At time of writing we have not heard of a Conservative entering the contest, but such a thing may happen later on.

In the meantime every constituency in the province is completing its organization with feverish haste, as it is confidently expected the announcement of an election will be made this week.

NATURAL RESOURCES SETTLEMENT IN SIGHT

(Calgary Herald)

The Herald has been informed by Premier Stewart that negotiations pointing to an early and satisfactory settlement of the natural resources question have been in progress between himself and Premier Meighen. Premier Stewart's estimate of Premier Meighen's position on this question is distinctly different from that of the Manitoba Free Press. The opinion of the latter, as expressed by the Manitoba Free Press, is that Premier Meighen has been merely "standing off" the Western provinces. The Free Press hints at political opportunism in the Dominion premier's handling of this matter. Mr. Stewart reports evidence of a keen and sympathetic desire on Premier Meighen's part to settle this question fairly and expeditiously if possible.

Alberta's premier states that he and Mr. Meighen have reached a good understanding. He looks for a formal proposal to be made by the federal authorities on the return of Mr. Meighen from London. It will likely be on the basis of a reduction of the subsidy which is now given to the province in lieu of lands. Premier Stewart is not demanding a complete accounting of all the resources alienated up to this time by the Dominion.

It is noteworthy that Mr. Stewart is dealing with Alberta's case independent of the other western provinces. He has therefore been able to present a less complicated application to the federal government, which in turn has accelerated action at Ottawa and gives more promise of quick settlement.

That negotiations along these lines should be taken by Alberta has been the view of The Herald in the past. Manitoba looks at this matter from a different angle. Saskatchewan dethe pathway of effective colonization is reasonably clear.

PHASE FOR LEGISLATION

"In the interval which must elapse before our proposals can be put into effect the association will continue to press for the co-ordination and legislation necessary."

"The directors hope that the federal government will be represented at a proposed conference of western premiers, and that as a result a uniform plan will be put into operation which will solve the unoccupied land problem and enable the association to get to work."

"In view of the above the directors have decided to delay active colonization work and in the interval endeavor to complete the full subscription list of $1,500,000."

AGREES WITH DECISION

Before leaving for Vancouver the managing director of the Western Canada Colonization association, Major-General A. D. McRae, C. B., made a brief statement to the press in the course of which he said:

"I agree with the decision unanimously reached by the eastern and western directors, after the most serious consideration of all the circumstances."

"I am very proud of the splendid support which I have received from the members of the board, particularly in regard to my land listing plan. In their view, as in mine, the legislation under which the three prairie provinces is absolutely necessary to success. This or similar legislation must be put into effect before the unoccupied land problem is solved. The participation of the federal government is most essential."

"During the interval the association of course will have no need for the services of a managing director in charge of actual colonization work. Although retiring from my connection with the association, I have agreed to assist in pressing for the proposed legislation before the coming conference of western premiers."

"Knowing something of past immigration movements to the prairies, I make bold to say that if given the power to start on the Western Canada Colonization association has within it the power to greatly assist the governments in the colonization of our unoccupied lands."

BIG SUCCESS IS ASSURED

The Directors of the Agricultural Society picked a winner when they decided to put on the Stock Judging Institute for returned men in connection with the forthcoming Fair, July 13, 19, 20.

J. R. Weston, local superintendent of the Soldier Settlement Board, sent out a circular to the men in his district, asking if they wished to attend such a gathering. Two replies are coming in thick and fast. Sure enough, they're nearly all coming. One man wrote to the effect that he had intended going to the Calgary and Red Deer Fairs to get some pointers on stock judging. This institute just hit him in the right place, so he was going to cut out the proposed trip to Calgary and concentrate on the Red Deer Fair.

The success of the Soldiers' Wives Institute last winter was little less than marvellous. With an equally enthusiastic convention of the soldiers' wives' husbands going on here at the same time as the big agricultural fair, with its myriad exhibits and its glowing attractions, Red Deer will be the hub of interest for three great days.

FARMERS HAVE CONFERENCE WITH EDUCATION DEPT.

Important Discussion on Educational Affairs—Resolutions of Approval Adopted.

The joint educational committee of the U.F.A. and the U.F.W.A. held its first official conference with the Minister of Education and officials of the Department in Edmonton yesterday. A very full and satisfactory discussion took place regarding all phases of rural school problems. The efforts of the Department to provide High School opportunity for rural children were strongly approved, as was also the general attitude of the Department in defending the autonomous rights of school boards. The members of the committee made many helpful suggestions and declared their support of any plan that would equalize the educational burden throughout the province.

After the conference the members of the Joint Committee met in the Corona Hotel and passed the following resolutions which were forwarded to the Minister of Education:

"That we are in favor of the authorized form of teachers' contract with an amendment to clause 5 regarding termination of agreement, making this clause reciprocal and providing, in the event of either party breaking the contract, a minimum penalty equal to one month's salary."

"That we favor the principle of the increase in the number of examination centres."

"That we are in favor of plan of procedure now followed in forming consolidated schools as outlined to us by the Minister of Education."

"That we are in favor of a system of Provincial taxation for educational purposes."

The report was signed by P. Baker, Ponoka; Chairman Mrs. S. M. Gunn, Paradise Valley; Secretary Stephen Lunn, Pincher Creek; Henry Spencer, Edgerton.

WETASKIWIN DEFEATED

Northerners Take Short End of 6-2 Score—Smith Turns in Nice Game for Red Deer—Innfall Again Takes his Place in League.

After having been defeated by Wetaskiwin, the local ballplayers invaded the northern town on Wednesday afternoon, and with the assistance of Percy Smith, who pitched his first game of the season, turned the tables on their opponents and tucked away six runs to the score of 6-2.

The game opened with a blank for Red Deer in the first, but Wetaskiwin, with the aid of three nicely placed singles, and an error, put over two runs, and it looked as though they were out to repeat their previous performance and lay their visitors by the heels. After this inning, however, Smith got into his stride and pitched a real game of ball, never being flustered. He had perfect control and did not walk a single batter throughout the entire nine innings. He was afforded excellent support, the one run in the first inning being the only misplay skunked up against his team-mates.

Both teams drew blanks after the first innings until the fifth, when something happened to the Wetaskiwins and two nice singles, two passed balls and three errors all in a row netted the Red Deer team five runners before the side was finally retired. Red Deer scored one more in the eighth, making a final score 6-2 in their favor.

Only on one occasion after the first innings did Wetaskiwin look like adding to their score in the fourth inning, when Godfrey got a nice three-bagger, but the next man went down by the still-out route for the third out.

The game from beginning to end was a nice exhibition of baseball, both teams being tight on their toes, and with the exception of the one bad pass, the batters were going down in almost one, two, three order, two double plays, one by each team, smarting up the play.

Butchart did mound duty for the northerners, and pitched a nice steady game, his only trouble coming in the fifth, when he issued two passes. Only six hits were garnered off his delivery during the game.

Smith held the northerners to seven hits, and refused to walk anyone, his control being perfect. He had ten fielding chances which he accepted without error, and scored one run.

Nelson was the heavy stickler for Red Deer, getting three hits in four trips to the plate.

Fitzgerald played his initial game on first base, and contributed a nice performance, having fifteen put-outs to his credit. Peterson in right field was always under the ball, and had three put-outs during the game.

Pete Johnson had to be relieved in the third on account of an injury received the previous evening in the game against Innisfail. Wetaskiwin had three new players on their lineup, two Dillingham brothers and Gouthrie.

RED DEER DEFEATS PONOKA IN TEN INNINGS GAME

An Exhibition That Would Have Done Credit to the Western Canada League.

Fielding like a real ball team, and showing class in all departments, the Red Deer aggregation succeeded in putting over a nice win on the home grounds Friday night. Ponoka nine were the visitors, and a more welcome bunch of sports never invaded our diamond.

It was a great game from a spectators' standpoint, the score being 3-3 at the end of the 9th. Ponoka went to bat in the extra frame, and 3 men, tried and true, went down as quickly as possible, two strike-outs and a nice fly to Peterson retiring the side.

And then Nelson came up, the heavy artillery man of the locals, and made another safety just as though he hadn't captured more than his share of the hits already. Wagner popped one out to the right fielder, and Percy Smith delivered one to the 3rd baseman, and then Thos Perceval marched up and swatted one out into the centre field, escaping the clutches of Longman. Thrills, razzle-dazzle, through and through when we saw Tom safely perched on the second bag and Nelson loping across the home plate like a favorite sweetestakes cory.

Peterson pitched for the home crew and only allowed two safe hits. He struck out 12 men, but his passes threatened to wreck our fondest hopes at one stage of the proceedings. This was in the 6th inning. Sorenson splits his finger and retired from the game, Downey taking the mask. Tho change seemed to disturb Pete, and he walked a couple of men home. Only 12 men faced him in the next 4 innings and none of these even got their eyes on last base.

The only run earned by Ponoka was in the 4th inning. Stack had struck out, and DesRoislers pounded out a 3-bagger and came home on McDonald's fly to Nelson. Rohwer walked to 1st, but was cut at 2nd, retiring the side.

Fortunately, Wagner got under Campbell's fly in the 5th, with the bases full, or our tale would have been too sad to relate.

Red Deer got dangerous in the 2nd with one man out and the bases full, but Dancocks popped out to 2nd and Peterson did not reach first till after the shortstop had heaved the ball over to cut him off.

We have a joyful story to tell about our third. Padden strode over to 1st, Fitzgerald's fly appealed to MacDonald who adopted it. Downey singled, and Nelson followed with one of those sluggers in which he specializes, bringing Padden and Downey home. Sorenson and Smith went out as flies to Campbell and Elroy.

We had hopes again in the 5th, when Fitzgerald got as far as 3rd base, but Nelson was cut off at 1st for the 3rd man down.

Again in the 7th Red Deer was left with men on 2nd and 3rd. Downey's fly taking Elroy's fly to retire the side.

Red Deer added a tally in the 8th. Nelson headed off with another two-bagger. Wagner popped a fly to Hans Rohwer in the right garden; Smith followed with another double, bringing Nelson home. Perceval and Dancocks fanned. However the score tied and we felt better.

The ninth was uneventful except that Fitzgerald died on 2nd. Campbell appeared in a new role as pitcher and gave a good account of himself, only walking two men, and although he was fairly fresh, was given excellent support, and his hits were pretty well scattered.

Peterson evidently vowed revenge on Stack for that home run at Innisfail, recently and struck him out every time he came in sight.

Downey put lots of pep into his game and grabbed everything in sight, his handling of a couple back of 3rd was big league ball. He made a very good substitute back of the bat as well.

will object to the 15 cent fee, because that is the easiest way of financing the scheme.

If Nelson doesn't stop hammering that ball all over creation, some of these ball players around the country will die of nervous prostration. Two doubles and a single in each of two games is some batting, we'll say.

Heartfelt sympathies to Stack! Just when he gave promise of competing for the world's home-run championship, Peterson comes along and strikes him out every time he faces the mound. Truly it is a hard, cruel world we live in.

PONOKA TAKES LEAD IN LEAGUE SERIES

Innisfail journeyed to Ponoka Monday night and returned with the short end of a 5 to 3 score. According to reports, Innisfail errors were the feature of the game, estimates on the actual number vary all the way from 6 to 10. Doc Wagner is willing to admit committing 3 of these himself.

The Innisfail team were well satisfied with Dan Bush's judgment on the deliveries, but they seemed to have a peeve in their crop regarding some of Joe's decisions on the bases.

Serini was back on the job after a short trip to the Brooks camping ground, and Hans Rohwer got into action again for Ponoka.

The score by innings follows:

INCREASED PRODUCTION

Exchange.

A negro from Kentucky drove to a loose leaf tobacco sales warehouse in one of the Indiana cities on the Ohio with a load of tobacco.

When he received his sales slip and weights he noticed the customary bank cheque was missing.

Approaching the cashier, he said: "Look here, boss, where is my money for this here tobacco?"

The cashier, like this, the expense for weighing, unloading and commission for selling your tobacco amounted to more than the tobacco was worth. You still owe us 55 cents," explained the cashier.

"Well, that's all right, I guess, but I ain't got a cent with me."

"Then the next time you are coming over the river, just bring along a chicken with you and we will call the deal square."

Within a week the colored man appeared in the office with two chickens, one under each arm.

"Here are the chickens!"

"Sure—but you didn't have to bring two of them, one would have paid the bill."

"Yes, boss, but I've brought another load of tobacco."

RAILWAYMEN ASK TIME TO CONSIDER WAGE REDUCTIONS

Between Now and July, Not Thought Sufficient Notification

Montreal, June 18.—The point most strongly urged by the railwaymen's representatives in discussing the formal announcement of the railway companies today that they would be invited to accept 12 per cent. wage reduction on July 1, was that the time between now and July 1 was insufficient in which to give thorough consideration to the proposals.

This was countered with a reminder from the railway officials that the union was quite aware that any change made by U.S. railway labor would be applicable simultaneously in this country if the spirit of the precedents established was to be continued, and the good relations which exist between railways and employees in Canada maintained.

The men's representatives were not told what would happen if they refused the decrease, and when railway officials were asked they replied that they did not anticipate any refusal.

Maintenance of way and shops' crafts were also asked they replied that they did not anticipate any refusal.

FAR AWAY GREEN FIELDS

Elizabeth had had a hard day. It had been dismal and cold and the furnace had been giving trouble, and the babies had been cross, and as she looked discontentedly out at the snow-covered prairie, stretching away to the horizon, she made up her mind as women sometimes will, that she and John and the babies should seek a warmer clime. What was the use of living in a place, quoth she to herself, where it was so cold and miserable for such a great part of the year as here, where the women and children were of necessity cooped up in the house all the time, and where, chief aggravation, there had to be so much money on coal. No wonder, she thought, that so many people left this God-forsaken spot and went away to British Columbia or the Southern States where in the sunlight and the flowers life must be worth while.

And while she undressed the babies, she still called them the babies, although Harold was two and Wilfred nearly four, ways and means of getting out of the cold prairie country passed continuously through her mind. Of course she knew she would miss her old friends, but then thought she, other people moved and they had to leave their friends and seemed quite contented in so doing. Elizabeth did not take into consideration the fact that she clung to her old ways and her old associations more than most people and forgot that the prettiest scene in the world was always more enjoyable to her if she could contemplate it surrounded by the people she loved. No, like so many people who are guided mainly by impulse she did not go into the details at all. She decided that she hated this cold, hard, snow-bound country and that she wanted to live where it was softer, more pleasant and beautiful. By the time she had kissed the babies "good-night" she had mentally persuaded her husband to move up his position, sell their home and, in fancy, she was sitting on the train with the children bound for the "sunny south."

As luck would have it John came home from the office, somewhat dispirited. Everything had gone wrong there on that bitterly cold day; there had been misunderstandings with the office force, a scene with the boss, and an aggravating story of competitors and unappreciated effort, so that when Elizabeth unfolded her plan to him of getting out and biding themselves away to a place which her fancy began to paint as a veritable Utopia, he lent a ready ear and said: "All right, I'll put the house in Greese's hands tomorrow for sale and if we get our price, we'll get out. I'll write to some firm where I might get a job and tell that sucker, meaning his boss, 'to get someone else to handle his old job!'"

It all worked like a charm. They were able to sell their house at a splendid figure, more than they had hoped for, and just when they were rejoicing over this piece of good fortune John received a very pleasing reply to one of his letters offering him a good position in a small town in one of the southern states. Elizabeth was delighted, and even when they told the furniture dealer that they were going to leave the snow and the cold of the prairie, she was only when her friends began to look sad and when her mother shook her head sorrowfully that she felt any remorse, but she tried to cheer her mother up by saying: "Well, mother, if it's nice there, perhaps you could come too!" The old lady shook her head and remarked:

"I'm getting too old to transplant now, Elizabeth. I came to this prairie country many many years ago from dear old Scotland which is beautiful enough, ye know, but I have gotten used to the ice and the snow and the wonder of the prairie with its golden grain in the summer after its travail of the winter months, and we have prospered here. Na, na, I wouldn't like to change again. The prairie with all her hardships has been a friend to me and mine, and I'm thinkin' I'll bury here."

Elizabeth knew the story of her parents' immigration to the prairie country, how they had come, how they had struggled and how they had worked and striven and saved. For years she had seemed little the reward for their efforts, but at last they came in from their own and from poverty had gained comfort and a real competence in their later years, and for a moment a little doubt crept into her mind as to the wisdom of her plan, and then she remembered a picture of their beautiful country to which they were going, which had been sent to her and as she viewed the children, Harold and Winnie, gambolling amid the flowers and the roses, she banished all regrets.

When John and Elizabeth arrived in Maryland, the roses were in full bloom. The air was hot and the atmosphere somewhat heavy, but this Elizabeth made no mention. She had determined to like her new surroundings, give up the little prairie boy children began to wilt in the heat and John looked paler and paler as the days went by. Elizabeth, though a sociable little soul enough among her own folks, was shy and distant with strangers, and the southern methods did not appeal to her harder notions, and so she was left very much alone. She, Elizabeth, who had been the centre of her little community at home!

"Mamma," said Harold one sunny day in July, when the bees hummed amidst the flowers, and the grapes hung heavy on the vines which climbed about the house, "My head aches and my tummy hurts, I would like to see my Gamma. She has been bright and cheerful, and she has been bright on the couch in the sitting room and Elizabeth felt a pang of dread as she looked at his heavy eyes and pale little face. He had never been sick at home. She glanced quickly at Winnie and thought the child seemed dull too. Was this to be the result of leaving her home and friends so soon that they might play in the sunshine? She asked herself. Was she to lose either or both of her children? Her heart cried out in protest as she flew to the telephone and called a doctor.

Both the children were very very ill, and the doctor said Elizabeth and John that the climate did not agree with them. John, too, had an illness and Elizabeth felt herself drooping and in despair, but she felt she must let herself go for the sake of the other and she was so anxious pleading prayers she prayed that they all might be spared to return home again. She was weary and lonely and amidst all the beauty and languor of the south, and actually longed for the snow bound country, for her own little prairie town and did not feel that she cared how much coal they had to burn, if only she could feel the invigorating frost bites and breezes again, which she felt put new life and vigor, and ambition into people.

So John wrote to his old cranky "boss," and received a letter from him in reply which brought tears to both their eyes, and Elizabeth and he read it. It said that they would be only too glad to have him back, and promised him an advancement in the very near future, and hinted, wisely, too, that for a young man of his ability and better opportunities than in the prairie country.

And six months from the time they left the little town they returned. Elizabeth and the babies had suffered much, but Elizabeth and John had learned a wonderful lesson regarding the green fields which seem so beautiful in most of our lives, at some time or other, and which prove merely a mirage after all.

And they went back to make the best of their lives on the prairie, with its cold, its snow and its hardships, for they had found that there were sufficient compensations to them to make up for the whole of the sunny south-land.

MEIGHEN OBJECTS TO DISCUSS DEFENCE

Canadian Premier Will Insist That Question of Navies Be Delayed Till After Constitutional Conference

London, June 16.—Despite the fact that Premier Hughes of Australia and Premier Massey, of New Zealand, will endeavor to have the conference of prime ministers discuss, and if possible, decide upon an imperial policy in the matter of naval defence, it seems practically certain that Premier Meighen will have the support of the British minister in his demand that the question be postponed and that no final decision be taken until after the constitutional conference has been held.

To understand Canada's position on this question, it is necessary to go back to the imperial conference of 1911, when the government of the day, under the leadership of the late prime minister, Mr. Borden, decided to support the British minister in his demand that the question be postponed and that no final decision be taken until after the constitutional conference has been held.

To such a remarkable proposal the Dominion premiers went back strong and prompt exception. They replied with a memorandum drafted by Sir Robert Borden, repeating the principle of centralization and laying down as an essential basis on any scheme to be adopted, complete control of local fleets by local governments. It was admitted that centralized direction was necessary during the war, but emphasis was laid on the fact that the question of actual participation, as well as the control and supervision of the fleets during peace must rest with the dominions. To this the admiralty made no reply, but upon the suggestion of the dominion premiers, Lord Jellicoe was commissioned to visit the dominions and report upon the character of the navy best suited to their needs.

This report, it will be remembered, was tabled in the Canadian house of commons two sessions ago, when the government and parliament took the ground that no action should be taken with respect to it until the constitutional conference determined the precise mechanism under which the dominions are to express their voice in the foreign affairs of the empire.

There the question stands today and Premier Meighen holds that as the present conference is not a constitutional conference, and, therefore, cannot deal with or settle the question of constitutional relations it has no right to take the naval question at all. He will, of course, urge the postponement of the question on other grounds, including that of the general desire for disarmament and the wisdom of making international developments, but it is mainly on the ground of standing by the decision of the Canadian government and parliament regarding the Jellicoe report that he will rest his case.

A GENERAL CONFERENCE The question is of less importance with that of the Anglo-Japanese alliance and Premier Hughes, backed by certain influences here, will put up strong opposition against having the treaty denounced and the naval question postponed. It is not improbable that this difficulty may be met by a proposal for a conference of all parties interested in the Pacific which would include the governments of the United States, Great Britain, Japan, Canada, Australia and New Zealand. Such a conference it is felt might do more to settle whatever difficulties and problems exist in regard to the navy than any policy or alliance or navy, and it is believed that if Canada took the lead in the matter the object could be achieved.

LLOYD GEORGE LUKEWARM Australia might offer opposition, but Lloyd George, who, it is thought, is lukewarm toward renewing the Japanese alliance and anxious to cut expenditure to the lowest possible minimum, would probably support the scheme.

The government is at present encountering difficulty on the question of expenditure, the press of all shades of politics crying out against commitment of all kinds and any proposal that no final decision be taken until after the constitutional conference has been held is not unlikely to receive his hearty approval. Meanwhile Premier Meighen, who is preparing his position on the various questions to come before the conference with great care, is having the utmost difficulty in avoiding engagements of all kinds. Representing, as he does, the senior dominion already voiced in the matter, that his attitude in the conference is likely to run counter to that of some of the other dominions.

M. D. OF HAYS COUNCIL

The fourth meeting of the council took place at Elmore on Saturday, the 11th of June, at 10 o'clock, with all councillors present.

Mr. J. D. Dwyer complained to the council that on account of there being no road open to the south side of 27-35-24, the travelling public cut his fence to get through to the Elmore-Louisa road. Councillor Wilber requested that Coun. Robinson be placed at the S.E. corner of Sec. 15-23-24, to erect two signs, one to be placed at the S.E. corner of Sec. 15-23-24, and the other at the N.W. corner of Sec. 27-35-24, directing the public against using this road enroute to Louis, Elmore, Carleton Place, and on motion of Wilton the matter was referred to Coun. Ross of that Division.

Mr. Les McConnel was present in support of his claim for $200 for land taken on Sec. 13, 14 and 23-24-24, and on motion of Wilton the matter was referred to Coun. Ross of that Division.

C. H. Biggs again took up the question of no compensation for land taken on Sec. 7-16-22-4 and on motion of Gehrke, this was tabled for further consideration.

Mr. Biggs also took up the matter of other diversions affecting his land and was moved by Kierkeberg that he be allowed $10 for the past use of land on the south side of section 4-36-22-4, and that the council agree to abandon this diversion this year and further that he be allowed $10 for use of land on the N.W. 27-35-24, for the next two years, this to be charged to the account of Div. 1. Carried.

Re the account from the House Furnishing Co. of Troon, for the carpet furnished for Mrs. Putman, it was moved by Kierkeberg that they be paid the original amount of $65. Carried.

A letter was read from the Department of Agriculture re the grasshoppers, and Mr. McDonald moved that the secretary write the Agricultural School at Olds for further information. Carried.

Moved by Ross that the following bills and accounts be passed and ordered paid: Carried.

Moved by Kierkeberg "that the secretary be instructed to enforce as far as possible the collection of the 'Ru' accounts." Carried.

Moved by Wilton "that the next meeting and Court of Revision be held in Delburne on Saturday, July 2, at 1 o'clock p.m." Carried.

INJUNCTION AGAINST GRAIN COMMISSION

Winnipeg, June 14.—A special sitting of the Grain Commission was held at Fort William on Saturday, when serious charges of fraud in the way of "false bottoms" etc., were made against the United Grain Growers by discharged employees. The session was held by Mr. H. Kierkeberg, secretary of the Grain Commission, who has been appointed specially to hold this enquiry by two of the commissioners, Stables and Goldie. Judge Hyndman, the chairman, was away in Alberta.

The special session of the royal grain enquiry commission at Fort William last Saturday was not a judicial proceeding, but a political manoeuvre affecting the interests of 36,000 farmer shareholders of the United Grain Growers Limited. Hon. A. C. Greer, president of the company, declared in a statement to the Canadian Press Limited last night that Mr. Greer stated his company is determined to resist such "unscrupulous attacks, and will protect its interests in the courts to the full extent of its legal rights."

An interim injunction restraining the Royal Grain Enquiry Commission from holding further sessions until the case is called into court here on June 22, was granted late yesterday by Mr. Justice A. C. Galt. The commission was sitting yesterday in Calgary. The injunction was granted by Mr. Galt on application of the United Grain Growers Limited, and was supported by Mr. J. A. Leandrew, K.C., and Hugh Phillips, K.C., representing the other plaintiffs in the suit.

FARMERS, ATTENTION!

Protect your interest in your crop by hull insurance. We are pleased to advise that we have been instrumental in securing from the Line Companies an 8% rate. This is a 20 per cent. reduction, and as we represent the United Grain Growers Security Co., we respectfully suggest that the farmers insure in your own company. We sell all classes of insurance. We would appreciate a fair portion of your patronage.

We still have money to loan at 8% on choice farms. Prompt service and quick returns.

What's a Guarantee?

Our idea of a guarantee is that the manufacturer who gives one—whichever has any tags and loopholes—believes in his product.

So much so that he stands ready to make good any loss suffered by the purchaser through defective material or workmanship.

It's mainly because of the guarantee that goes with them that we are selling and recommending Ames Holden "Auto-Shoes."

Of course, we know they give the cheapest value too—that they are dependable tires for any make of car, anywhere. But it's the guarantee that we talk about most. It's the straight and clean-cut, without time or mileage limits. It shifts our responsibility on to the manufacturer and he lives up to every letter of it. Come in and let us tell you about the guarantee that goes with

FAIR NOTES

The Prize Lists are out.

A Prize List will be mailed to all who exhibited at last year's Fair. If you did not exhibit last year, call at the Secretary's office, Michener Block, or telephone 278, and get a copy.

The Fair Prize List contains a list of all those who have given cash or other prizes, the particular class to which the prize is attached being designated.

Just three and a half weeks till the Big Fair. Every citizen of Red Deer district is expected to be a booster. Get your exhibits ready and make your entries early.

Here is a conundrum: If a farmer's wife won the first prize for the best loaf of bread at last year's Fair, who will win it this year?

President Bjorkeland's smile is growing broader as the big Fair draws nearer. Let us all help to make this the biggest and best Fair ever held at Red Deer.

WILLOWDALE WELCOMES THE COMING AND SENDS THEIR PARTING MINISTER

Last Thursday evening, the Presbyterian church at Willowdale was well filled with friends from Hill End, Edwell and Willowdale.

The occasion was a farewell to Mr. John N. Fraser, who has ministered to the congregation so acceptably for the past year, as well as to extend a welcome to the Rev. A. L. and Mrs. Hughes, who have just come to take up the work. A fine spirit of good will was evident among all the people at all the stations, and Mr. Hughes assured of hearty co-operation among a loyal people. An interesting part of the program was when Mr. J. Reay, on behalf of the people of the three places, read an address to Mr. Fraser expressing their appreciation of his life and work among them. Mr. Neil McPhee, of Edwell, on behalf of the different congregations, presented him with a fine club bag. In his reply, Mr. Fraser said that it had been a great pleasure to him to carry on the work in this little district, and he bespoke on behalf of his successors the same good will and co-operation that had been given to him during his term of service.

The Junior Choir will lead the song service in the Methodist Church next Sunday evening.

AMBULANCE

ANNOUNCEMENT

Owing to the fact that we, the undersigned Coal and Wood Dealers, having to pay spot cash for coal and wood, find ourselves forced to place our business on an Absolutely Cash or C.O.D. basis.

After giving this matter the most careful consideration, we have come to the conclusion, that a cash business will be more satisfactory to our Customers, as it will eliminate the loss in bad accounts that we experience, which is a big factor in determining the prices of fuel.

Therefore, on and after JULY 1st, All Orders
Must be Accompanied by CASH, or Paid For On Delivery.

In order to save inconvenience to our Customers, and additional expense to ourselves, where cash does not accompany the order, kindly arrange to make payment direct to teamsters at time of delivery, otherwise the fuel will be returned.
